

THE SMITHS AT PEAPACK.

SOME CAME BY RAIL AND SOME ON FOOT AND HOME IN WAGON DRIVEN.

About 3,000 Peapacks of the Peasants, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, being mistaken for Mr. and Mrs. Smith, in the morning, when Mr. Smith, who was a few miles from Morristown, N. J., he thought he could perceive an approaching rain storm, and he alarmed his wife by saying that he would not go to Peapack. At about the same hour, however, Mr. Jan Smith, living about thirty miles in another direction from Morristown, inspected the clouds, and, seeing that he would not go to Peapack, he decided to go to Peapack. The elements overcame him on the road. In this resolution he was supported by Mr. August Schmidt, a near neighbor, and about fifteen hundred persons in various parts of New Jersey, each of whom either bore the name of Smith or one of his relatives, and who, in fact, the fifth annual reunion of the New Jersey Smiths, and, as usual, the day was celebrated in a large grove on the farm of Peter Z. Smith, at Peapack, N. J.

Peapack was chosen five years ago, it is said, on the anniversary of the Peasants' revolt, the great difficulty of getting there from any part of New Jersey; for it was rightly argued that any man who would bore the name of Smith would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road.

Peapack was chosen five years ago, it is said, on the anniversary of the Peasants' revolt, the great difficulty of getting there from any part of New Jersey; for it was rightly argued that any man who would bore the name of Smith would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road.

Peapack was chosen five years ago, it is said, on the anniversary of the Peasants' revolt, the great difficulty of getting there from any part of New Jersey; for it was rightly argued that any man who would bore the name of Smith would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road.

Peapack was chosen five years ago, it is said, on the anniversary of the Peasants' revolt, the great difficulty of getting there from any part of New Jersey; for it was rightly argued that any man who would bore the name of Smith would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road.

Peapack was chosen five years ago, it is said, on the anniversary of the Peasants' revolt, the great difficulty of getting there from any part of New Jersey; for it was rightly argued that any man who would bore the name of Smith would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road.

Peapack was chosen five years ago, it is said, on the anniversary of the Peasants' revolt, the great difficulty of getting there from any part of New Jersey; for it was rightly argued that any man who would bore the name of Smith would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road.

Peapack was chosen five years ago, it is said, on the anniversary of the Peasants' revolt, the great difficulty of getting there from any part of New Jersey; for it was rightly argued that any man who would bore the name of Smith would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road.

Peapack was chosen five years ago, it is said, on the anniversary of the Peasants' revolt, the great difficulty of getting there from any part of New Jersey; for it was rightly argued that any man who would bore the name of Smith would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road.

Peapack was chosen five years ago, it is said, on the anniversary of the Peasants' revolt, the great difficulty of getting there from any part of New Jersey; for it was rightly argued that any man who would bore the name of Smith would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road, while any man who would forego his name to Peapack, taking his wife and children with him, whatever obstacles he might encounter upon the road.

MRS. MARY E. HALUS WILL.

What Survivors Calvin Says in Referring to Admit to Peapack.

Surrogate Calvin has refused to admit to probate the will of Mrs. Mary Baker Hall, the wife of Dr. Frederick Hall. The will was contested by Mrs. Hall's brothers and sisters, the chief ground of the contest being the undue influence of Dr. Hall, to whom most of the property was left.

The testimony presented by the contestants showed that Mrs. Hall, who was said to have been feeble in mind and body, came into an inheritance of about $200,000 before her marriage, and that she was afterwards married to Dr. Hall, who was a few miles from Morristown, N. J., he thought he could perceive an approaching rain storm, and he alarmed his wife by saying that he would not go to Peapack.

The testimony presented by the contestants showed that Mrs. Hall, who was said to have been feeble in mind and body, came into an inheritance of about $200,000 before her marriage, and that she was afterwards married to Dr. Hall, who was a few miles from Morristown, N. J., he thought he could perceive an approaching rain storm, and he alarmed his wife by saying that he would not go to Peapack.

The testimony presented by the contestants showed that Mrs. Hall, who was said to have been feeble in mind and body, came into an inheritance of about $200,000 before her marriage, and that she was afterwards married to Dr. Hall, who was a few miles from Morristown, N. J., he thought he could perceive an approaching rain storm, and he alarmed his wife by saying that he would not go to Peapack.

The testimony presented by the contestants showed that Mrs. Hall, who was said to have been feeble in mind and body, came into an inheritance of about $200,000 before her marriage, and that she was afterwards married to Dr. Hall, who was a few miles from Morristown, N. J., he thought he could perceive an approaching rain storm, and he alarmed his wife by saying that he would not go to Peapack.

The testimony presented by the contestants showed that Mrs. Hall, who was said to have been feeble in mind and body, came into an inheritance of about $200,000 before her marriage, and that she was afterwards married to Dr. Hall, who was a few miles from Morristown, N. J., he thought he could perceive an approaching rain storm, and he alarmed his wife by saying that he would not go to Peapack.

The testimony presented by the contestants showed that Mrs. Hall, who was said to have been feeble in mind and body, came into an inheritance of about $200,000 before her marriage, and that she was afterwards married to Dr. Hall, who was a few miles from Morristown, N. J., he thought he could perceive an approaching rain storm, and he alarmed his wife by saying that he would not go to Peapack.

The testimony presented by the contestants showed that Mrs. Hall, who was said to have been feeble in mind and body, came into an inheritance of about $200,000 before her marriage, and that she was afterwards married to Dr. Hall, who was a few miles from Morristown, N. J., he thought he could perceive an approaching rain storm, and he alarmed his wife by saying that he would not go to Peapack.

The testimony presented by the contestants showed that Mrs. Hall, who was said to have been feeble in mind and body, came into an inheritance of about $200,000 before her marriage, and that she was afterwards married to Dr. Hall, who was a few miles from Morristown, N. J., he thought he could perceive an approaching rain storm, and he alarmed his wife by saying that he would not go to Peapack.

The testimony presented by the contestants showed that Mrs. Hall, who was said to have been feeble in mind and body, came into an inheritance of about $200,000 before her marriage, and that she was afterwards married to Dr. Hall, who was a few miles from Morristown, N. J., he thought he could perceive an approaching rain storm, and he alarmed his wife by saying that he would not go to Peapack.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Advertisements.

Amusements.

Amusements.

Amusements.

Amusements.

Amusements.

Amusements.

Amusements.

Amusements.

Amusements.

Amusements.

Amusements.

Amusements.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.

Excursions.